6th World Congress on Ovulation Induction

Naples, Italy • 30 September - 2 October 2010

Ovulation Induction is a critical therapeutic procedure employed in the management of infertility, both alone and in conjunction with assisted reproduction procedures.

Since 1994 the World Congress on Ovulation Induction has become a key scientific event to update physicians and scientists on novel and ground-breaking approaches and techniques in this invaluable therapeutic area.

The 6th edition of the World Congress on Ovulation Induction will take place in Naples, Italy from the 30th of September to the 2nd of October, 2010. This beautiful city, close to unique venues such as the islands of Capri and Ischia and the archaeological sites of Pompeii and Herculaneum will be a perfect backdrop for this high-level scientific event. The Congress will be held at a central and convenient facility located on the Mediterranean seashore with a breathtaking view of the bay of Naples, its islands, and Mount Vesuvius.

We look forward to welcoming you in Naples in 2010.

Tour No. 1

The Capodimonte Museum and historical Naples

Date: 01 October 2010

Full day: Capodimonte Museum, Duomo, Via S. Gregorio Armeno, Citadel of S. Chiara, Gesu Nuovo church, Castel dell'Ovo

Departure:

Royal Continental Hotel at 08:30

Capodimonte Museum

The Capodimonte Royal Palace was created by Charles of Bourbon to accommodate his court and also because he needed a proper site to house the outstanding Farnese art collection he had inherited from his mother, Elisabetta Farnese. Works started in 1738 following the design made by Antonio Mediano, but it took more than a century to complete the building even though an important part of the Farnese Collection – in particular paintings – started being exhibited in 1759. At the beginning of the 19th Century, the paintings of the Capodimonte Palace were moved to the Royal Museum (today the Naples National Archaeological Museum) created inside the Palace of Royal Studies. The complete art collection was returned to the Capodimonte Museum in 1957 when the restored Royal Palace was opened again to the public after having been the residence of the House of Savoy from 1860 to 1947.

Light Lunch

Neapolitan Pizza, 1/2 liter mineral water or soft drinks, typical Neapolitan sweet.

After lunch, visit to the Duomo.

This majestic Cathedral was commissioned by King Charles I of Anjou. Construction started at the end of the 13th century and continued up to the early 14th century. Since the 16th century, the church houses the relics of San Gennaro (St. Januarius), the patron saint of Naples. At the beginning of the 17th century, the Royal Chapel of San Gennaro's Treasure was added to thank the Saint for the end of a plague epidemics in 1527.

ACCOMPANYING PERSON PROGRAM

The tour continues with San Gregorio Armeno, the famous street of the nativity scene makers, followed by a visit to the citadel of Santa Chiara with its Church and Monastery and its wonderful Majolica Tiled Cloister. The Convent and Church of Santa Chiara were commissioned by Robert of Anjou in 1310 to house the Anjou Royal family tombs. Inside the complex, the most solemn ceremonies and royal gatherings took place.

The visit will continue to the Gesù Nuovo church.

Its façade is in bugnato style (with protruding diamond points made of volcanic stones) and is modelled on the 15th century Sanseverino's palace. This bugnato façade was maintained by the Jesuits when during the 16th century they bought the building and converted it into the church for their new seat. The Baroque interior is impressive due to the richness of polychromatic marble decorations.

Last stop of this full day tour: visit to Castel dell'Ovo, a castle located just 100 m far from Royal Continental Hotel.

The edifice is the most ancient castle in Naples and is located on a small island, the Megarides, where in the 1st century BC, the Roman patrician Lucius Licinius Lucullus had his villa. The first portion of the existing castle dates back to the 9th century. With the Normans, the Swabians, the Angevins and the Aragonese, the fortified citadel changed continuously in order to adapt its defensive structure to the changing needs. The current look of the castle is mainly due to the rebuilding that occurred in 1503 as the castle had been almost destroyed during a siege by Ferdinand II of Spain.

Return to Royal Continental Hotel at around 18:30

PRICE: € 50,00 PER PERSON

Tour fee includes: transport by bus, guided tours, admission tickets, lunch.

Tour No. 2

The Archeological museum and modern Naples

Date: 02 October 2010

Full day: Archaeological Museum, Plebiscito Square, Galleria Umberto, S. Carlo Theatre, Castel Nuovo.

Departure:

National Archaeological Museum

The palace hosting one of the most important archaeological museums in the world, was built at the end of the 16th century as a royal riding school. At the beginning of the following century, it was restored to become the seat of the University of Naples. In 1777, when Ferdinand IV of Bourbon moved the University in the former Gesù Vecchio Convent, the building was again modified to accommodate the Royal Bourbon Museum and Royal Library. In 1860 it became a state-owned building. The most interesting collections of the National Archaeological Museum comprise original objects and works of art (including mosaics and statues) discovered in the sites buried by the Mount Vesuvius eruption in the 1st century A.D. (Pompeii and Herculaneum). During the 19th century, donations by private citizens and other findings from excavation sites in Campania region and Southern Italy enriched the Museum property. A comprehensive reorganisation of the collections is in progress, with the dual purpose of documenting the role of private collectors in assembling the archaeological property and illustrating the various findings in their specific context.

Light Lunch

Neapolitan Pizza, 1/2 liter mineral water or soft drinks, typical Neapolitan sweet.

After lunch, the tour continues to Piazza del Plebiscito, a square that played a very important role in the life of Naples:

this was the place where festivals, celebrations, ceremonies and military parades took place. In 1815 Ferdinand of Bourbon – after the French defeat – was restored to the throne of Naples and commissioned the magnificent royal church of San Francesco di Paola.

The Royal Palace of Naples (visit limited to the outside of the building) dates back to the viceregal period, at the beginning of the 17th century.

The Spanish Viceroys felt the need for a spacious and prestigious palace that could sumptuously host the court and sovereigns during their trips to Naples. The architect chosen for that palace was Domenico Fontana (coming from the papal court) who drew inspiration from late- Renaissance models. During the 18th and 19th centuries, numerous additions and changes were made to embellish the building. In 1837, the Palace was seriously damaged by a fire and thus restored by Gaetano Genovese, an architect who also made a new wing ("ala delle feste") and a new façade towards the sea.

From 1600 to 1946, the Royal Palace has been the seat of the monarchical power in Naples and Southern Italy, beginning with the Spanish and Austrian Viceroys, followed by the Bourbons and ending with the Savoy Royal family. The long façade of the Royal Palace was designed by Fontana: in the middle, you find the main entrance and above the balcony for parades.

ACCOMPANYING PERSON PROGRAM

Sideways, there are the viceroial and royal coats of arms, with the Savoy coat of arms below. Above, you find the clock tower. The façade shows a series of arches and niches. At the end of the 19th century, inside these niches the Savoy family decided to place statues of the kings of the eight dynasties that ruled the Kingdom of Naples: Roger the Norman, Frederick II of Swabia, Charles I of Anjou, Alfonso V of Aragon, Charles V of Habsburg, Charles III of Bourbon, Joachim Murat, Victor Emanuel II.

From Plebiscito square, the guide will take you to Umberto I Gallery that at the beginning of the 20th century became a meeting place for Neapolitan musicians. The impressive iron and glass structure and the elegant flooring with polychromatic marbles make this large area (1000 m2, 35 m high) full of light.

From the Gallery through a side exit, you can see in front of you the Teatro San Carlo, one of the most ancient theatres in the world. It was inaugurated on 4 November 1737, the name day of King Charles I of Bourbon.

A short walk will lead you to Castel Nuovo (New Castle). It was called "Castrum Novum" to distinguish it from the other two existing castles that were no longer suitable for hosting the Angevin court. Construction started in 1279 with Charles I. Only the Palatine Chapel remains of the original structure as the castle was rebuilt by Alfonso I of Aragon, starting in 1443. Since 1990, the western wing hosts on two floors the Civic Museum, while the Sala dei Baroni (Room of the Barons) is now used for Municipal Council meetings.

Tour No. 1

Pompeii and Herculaneum

Date: 03 October 2010

Guided tour to the archaeological sites – a true journey to discover the ancient civilization destroyed by the dreadful eruption of Mount Vesuvius in 79 AD.

Departure:

Royal Continental Hotel at 07:30

POMPEII EXCAVATIONS

Pompeii is the only archaeological site in the world where you can literally see an ancient Roman centre as a whole. Rich in trading activities and full of life, Pompeii “came to a halt” because of the famous eruption in 79 AD. During this eruption, a rain of ash and lapilli covered everything: houses, inhabitants, streets, public buildings and objects of daily life. Everything was “frozen” like in a horrible snapshot.

A catastrophe, a cataclysm that nonetheless gave us the opportunity to have an exceptionally well preserved town and treasures: urban pattern, public and religious monuments, the magnificent dwellings decorated with mosaics and famous wall paintings, areas where daily life activities were taking place. With a 44-hectare excavated area, Pompeii is one of the most famous and visited archaeological sites in the world, with over two million visitors each year.

Lunch

Pasta dish, main course, side dish, dessert or fruits, 1/4 liter wine, 1/2 liter water.

HERCULANEUM EXCAVATIONS

Herculaneum is a small coastal town in Campania region, half way on the road connecting Naples to Pompeii and to Nocera, Stabia and Sorrento.

Herculaneum was buried by a fast and hot river of volcanic mud – ash mixed with water – that, once solidified, preserved everything in an original and unique way, even organic finds such as plants, fabrics, furniture, structural parts of wooden buildings. Unmatched at other archeological sites is the presence of the upper floors of the buildings which give us a precise idea on volumes and building techniques, and provide the opportunity to establish the history of a Roman house through almost three centuries – from the 2nd century BC to the eruption in 79 AD.

The visit starts at the entrance portal in Resina main street, from where you have a first top view of Herculaneum: you can immediately notice the classical urban pattern of a roman city, with the decumanus parallel to the coast and crossing the perpendicular cardus, thus resulting in a definite “chess-board” pattern of rectangular house blocks called Insulae. Thanks to this top view, we can also have an overall image of the town with its public and religious monuments, the magnificent dwellings, the houses of ordinary people and places where daily life activities occurred.

Tour No. 2 Capri and Anacapri Date: 03 October 2010

Guided tour to the island, Marina Grande, Anacapri, Capri town center, Via Camerelle, Via Tragara

Departure:
Royal Continental Hotel at 07:30

Boarding at Beverello quay, arrival after about 45 minutes.

Capri Island was inhabited in prehistoric times: traces were found in the grottos and are now visible in museums. Emperors Augustus and Tiberius lived there for long periods of time and even today you can admire the magnificent villas they commissioned for their stay at the "Blue Island".

During the 17th century AD, Christian monks commissioned the construction of a fortified charterhouse (Certosa di San Giacomo) where they also manufactured perfumes by extracting the essences from the flowers of Capri island.

The prestige and reputation of Capri developed thanks to the Grand Tour in the 19th century: artists, writers, musicians and intellectuals "discovered" and drew inspiration from it for their works.

Therefore, Capri, besides its natural beauty, boasts historical memories making it even more fascinating. A surprising feature of Capri island is the great variety of possible tours, even though the island is quite small. You can choose the atmosphere of the fishing village and sea grottos; the walks close to sheer cliffs; the fields of peasants growing lemons, oranges and olives; the streets in the town centre with luxury shops; the elegant hotels; the craftsmen's workshops; the churches; the remains of Roman Emperors' villas. The Piazzetta (Italian for "small square") – Piazza Umberto I – is the core of Capri island for both tourists and local inhabitants. In the past, the Piazzetta hosted the open market – the heart of trading for Capri Island.

Nowadays, the Piazzetta is the focal point of social life with its prestigious bars: you can now drink a coffee or an aperitif next to some international political and intellectual personalities. Capri's Piazzetta is the ideal starting place for any tour.

Along the street we can see: Villa Discopoli, a villa where the writer Rainer Maria Rilke and Queen Margherita of Savoy lived; Villa Lo Studio where the poet Pablo Neruda spent some time; Villa Tragara commissioned by the German artist Christian Wilhelm Allers; Villa Quattro Colonne owned by the painter Goffredo Sinibaldi; Hotel Punta Tragara inspired by the work of the architect Le Corbusier. You can also visit the Augustus gardens commissioned in the 30s by Friedrich Alfred Krupp, a German industrialist. There you can find species of Capri flora and wonderful panoramas with a terrace structure and different observation points from where you can see the Certosa di San Giacomo, the Faraglioni (stacks), Mount Tuoro, Marina Piccola bay and Mount Solaro.

Lunch at a typical restaurant

Pasta dish, main course, side dish, dessert or fruits, 1/4 liter wine, 1/2 liter water.

Optional tour: Blue Grotto 12.00 euros duration about 1 hour

The Blue Grotto is known all over the world for its great extent, intense blue color of its interior and silvery white brilliance objects have when immersed in its water. To enter the Grotto, you have to get into small rowing boats, with two or three people maximum, and lying on the bottom of the boat, you pass through the low and narrow mouth of the cave. Once inside, the scenario is touching beyond description: the blue water looks like a sky where boats settle comfortably, as if they do not want to disturb the apparently absolute peace of this place.

Emperor Tiberius used it as his private nymphaeum and the painter August Kopiscw "re-discovered" it in 1826, after a period during which a legend spread among local fishermen, saying that evil spirits lived in the deepest cavities of the grotto.

As an alternative:

Spare time for shopping

To shop in Capri is a unique experience, a wonderful opportunity to see directly how those elegant articles the island is famous for, are made. Local artists open the door of their workshops and invite passers-by and collectors to get in and observe their works and their exhibitions of paintings, sculptures and ceramics. An opportunity not to be missed: a visit to the workshops where unforgettable perfumes are made from Capri flowers or to places where the excellent Limoncello di Capri liquor is produced in all its varieties.

at around 19:00

PRICE: € 90,00 PER PERSON
